He was a sincere friend to his country, a firm supporter of the Doctrines of free grace, and even declared in his last moments, that they were the grounds of his hope of immortal glory.

Farewell, thou man of God, we saw thy grief.
Nor youth, nor hoary days produced relief.
By painful crosses tried, by sorrows proved
By good men honored, and by Jesus loved.
Thy many years, one hallowed
